

WIFE'S LOVE FOR HUSBAND DID NOT CHANGE HER VOTE

Prominent Women Declare Idea They Always Follow Lead Is All "Piffle"—Holds Own Views.

BY MARGERY REX.
(Written for the International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—According to Dr. Edward Hiram Reede, of Washington, the ballot is the harbinger of wisely affection, and the woman who loves her husband, as every good wife should, will vote as her spouse does.

In the course of his remarks Dr. Reede, who is a well-known neurologist, says of the modern wife:

"If she holds political views contrary to his she consciously or subconsciously feels antagonism toward him."

"The woman who loves her husband romantically has an identification of interests with him. She is one with him in everything—she is a Democrat because he is a Democrat. She may create a myth around her reasons for being a Democrat, but subconsciously she could be nothing else. To her this man she loves is a fountain of wisdom and she concedes the superiority of his judgment in politics as in everything else."

This, of course, leads to the ancient and honorable question, "What is love?" which is even harder to decide than why are some candidates elected.

Dr. A. A. Brill, eminent psychoanalyst, on being consulted by the writer, in search of truth and opinions, partially agreed with the neurologist of the capital, yet modified his answer to some degree.

"Of course, from the few things the doctor says I can not fully judge what he means," said Dr. Brill recently. "It depends largely on what we mean when we speak of a 'woman who loves her husband.'"

"If we refer to the Romeo-Juliet type of intense, excessive love, then he is right. That sort of love causes two hearts to beat as one and each agrees completely with the other. Each personality envelops the other."

"But it seems that the matter of voting today would be more or less extraneous. There are many women in this city, active politically, who love their husbands, or think they love their husbands, perhaps, and really do, insofar as we know. They vote differently, though. Their love is not that type of love, the very young and ardent lovers, who belong completely to each other."

"The doctor's idea would not be more. But in all things we find a difference. I understand, says that if a man has an ideal love for his wife, that is, regards him as her ideal of masculine perfection, or on the other hand, has a secret antagonism for him, either quality is transferred at her marriage to her husband, who thereafter is either the object of her admiration or of her dislike as her father was. In that he is right."

"I do not believe, though, that the matter of a wife casting her vote is a party opposed by her husband would mean that such a state of antagonism existed or had been passed on from her father to her husband."

Indignant declarations from prominent women voters have less scientific value than Dr. Brill's statements, but come to speak, "from the heart out."

"For 18 years," says Mrs. Rose Bros, lawyer and suffragist. "I have lived with my husband, a Democrat, while I have been a strong adherent of Republican politics. I have never had a hard word about politics. Our life has been characterized by the greatest congeniality. Dr. Reede is wrong. I am sure."

From Mrs. Oliver Scott, Gabriel, law partner of Mrs. Bros, and Republican leader, comes further refutation of Dr. Reede's theories.

"What's the matter with that man?" questioned Mrs. Gabriel. Mr. Gabriel has always been a Democrat and I have been on the other side. Now my husband on account of the absolute inefficiency of his party, will change to the Republican platform, he says. "At any rate we get on wonderfully together. We disagree in many things, but I think the woman who votes always just as her husband does is a voting nonentity."

"Any woman who is at all interested in civic affairs is able to think out how to vote."

"We women have traveled alone up the steep hill to get our vote," interposed Mrs. Bros, "and I guess we can make our stand without man's support, now that we are on the smooth plain of victory."

"I don't agree with Dr. Reede at all. Love for country has nothing to do with love for husband. It is as different as the love of a mother for a child, compared with that of a woman for a man."

"The woman who loves her country will vote according to her best convictions. A husband is a different matter."

"The women that never have a thought that isn't put into their heads by some men are the kind that fill our divorce courts."

However, Dr. Reede's hypothesis makes great arguments for the husband who wants to bend his wife's will to support what he believes to be the best political party. "You

Woman Charged With Murder

Mrs. Richard Peete has pleaded not guilty to a charge of murdering Jacob C. Denton, wealthy Los Angeles mining man. He disappeared June 3. His body was found buried in the basement of his home late in September. Mrs. Peete has stated that a woman caller at the Denton home departed in anger, returned later with a man and that the pair murdered Denton.

Girl Saves College Man From Prison

AKRON, O., Nov. 3. (By International News Service.)—George Gail, 23, a senior at college, has been saved from prison, at least temporarily, by his fiancée.

Gail was tried and convicted of having a stolen automobile in his possession and being unable to furnish an adequate bill of sale. He pleaded he bought the car. It was taken from in front of a Cleveland theater.

Imposition of the prison sentence was delayed while the court considered Gail's application to be permitted to complete his university training before starting to serve his sentence.

Now his fiancée has appeared before the judge and testified Gail was with her the night the automobile was stolen. This would give Gail a sufficient alibi, if proven, to warrant a new trial, court officials said.

Gail told the court he had kept the case from the knowledge of his sweetheart and never would have asked her to testify in his behalf. Her name is withheld.

EASTPORT, MAINE, MECCA OF THIRSTY

EASTPORT, Me., Nov. 3. (By International News Service.)—Eastport is the new haven of the thirsty.

With the frontier practically unguarded and Canadian islands only two miles away, smugglers operating motor boats and schooners have learned that they can bring liquor into this town with little fear of molestation.

So much competition has developed among them in selling contraband here that prices have slumped. Chosen Canadian whiskies are now selling at $5 and $6 a quart. This is said to be the most open spot for smugglers along the entire border. There are only two customs inspectors at Eastport, and one of these spends two days of every week on duty at St. John, N. B.

There are 12 miles of waterfront here, with numbers of unprotected inlets where any boatman could make a landing. For years there has not been a night inspector

Hunters Seek Huge Grizzly Bear In Canadian Forests

JASPER PARK, Alta., Nov. 3. (By International News Service.)—"Old Crips" awoke in his lair in the Mount Robson country this summer and found himself famous. He is declared to be the biggest grizzly ever seen in those mountains.

Where he came from is a mystery. He made his bow to society on the headwaters of the Fraser when he rose on his hind legs behind a patch of briars and quietly surveyed at a distance of ten feet a party of berry pickers, including two women, from Tete Jaune, on the Grand Trunk Pacific railway. The party returned to town hurriedly, leaving their packs of berries to the bear. Since then he has been seen a number of times by miners and prospectors. He limps in his off fore foot. His injury, which is perhaps a souvenir of some ancient encounter with a hunter, has given him the name of "Old Crips."

Dr. Frank Romig, J. Paul Thompson and Morris Ackerman, of Cleveland, and Dr. Clarence E. Hardy, of Milwaukee, have arrived here on a hunting expedition. When they heard of the monster bear they prepared to invade his wilderness domain and swore they would bring back the hide of the Mount Robson monster among their trophies. Mr. Ackerman is a noted big game sportsman. They have taken the trail with 25 pack horses and three mountain guides, headed by Donald Phillips, of Jasper. They will spend 40 days in pursuit of bear, mountain goat, deer and mountain sheep. Big game, it is said, has not been so plentiful in the Fraser river country for years.

Defines "Bull" Before Court

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (By International News Service.)—The recent sessions of the senatorial "slush fund" committee here, which had to do with the charges and countercharges of large presidential campaign funds, besides developing many interesting facts about campaign funds, turned up a definition of the well-known "bull."

Fred W. Upham, Republican national committee treasurer, characterized some statements in the Republican official bulletin as "bull." His assistant, Harry M. Blair, "financial wizard" of the Republican campaign fund-raising activities, used the same term testifying regarding the truth of a Democratic charge.

"Then you mean to say this statement is a lie?" demanded Senator Reed.

"No, just bull," said Blair.

"What is the difference between bull and a lie?" Reed asked.

"Bull is extended truth," answered Blair without hesitation, while everybody in Judge Pace's courtroom laughed.

"I'm glad to get an official definition of the troublesome word," said Senator Reed.

"Go As Far As You Like"

To make Troco the world's best nut margarin

Our instructions to A. E. Hoffman

These were our instructions to A. E. Hoffman when he joined the Troco organization. We said—you have full liberty to go as far as you like—what we want is perfected Troco.

We built him a new factory, up-to-the-minute in every detail of equipment and sanitation.

Now this expert, in this plant, has produced a new and perfected Troco—a fancy brand of nut margarin.

Mr. Hoffman has been identified with the butter business all his life. For over 30 years he has made and judged butter and taught butter making.

This ripe experience has taught him how to perfect Troco, which is churned like butter with snowy coconut fat replacing butter fat.

He gives it the same rarely sweet flavor which made his butter famous in his butter making days.

You want this new perfected Troco—for its fine flavor, delicacy and nutritive value. So order it from your dealer.

As we didn't ask Mr. Hoffman to meet a price, it may cost more, just as fancy butter commands a premium.

Too Weak to Do Anything

The ordinary every-day life of most women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the tasks become when some derangement peculiar to her sex makes every movement painful, and keeps the nervous system all unstrung until life seems hardly worth living. Every woman in this condition should profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow.

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still I failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could be out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my own housework. My friends say, 'My! but you look well—what do you do?' Who is your doctor?' And there is only one answer, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine which I gladly recommend.'"—Mrs. Wm. Stein, 560 Douglas Street, Reading, Pa.

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W.
